

Join our Green Infrastructure Low Impact Development Training (GILID) Savannah, Georgia

Grow your business and increase your offerings to your customers. Contractors, builders and developers are profiting from the introduction of green infrastructure and low-impact development for addressing stormwater issues in their communities. Attend a training and get important information for implementing GILID practices, and learn how to maximize profit with your new skills.

Green Infrastructure benefits communities by reducing the negative impacts of storm events through the creation of greenspaces, parks and amenities. The new protocols you'll learn for GI stormwater management will allow you to expand the amount of work you can offer while saving money on installation and maintenance costs.

Thank you to our funders, Georgia Department of Natural Resources and Atlanta Regional Commission, and to our promotion partners :
